2009-10 Gymnastics Rules Changes

I. Vault

Use the USA Gymnastics Level 10 vault values and raise 0.50. The only novice vault allowed will be the straddle with a 6.5 start value. USA Gymnastics changed the values on most non-salto vaults. Refer to Rule Book or USA Gymnastics for new values.

II. Bars

Novice bar routine dismount connection has changed. From the back-hip circle on the high bar the dismount connection is now: cast to 45° below horizontal, tap swing forward with ½ turn OR flyaway tuck dismount.

III. Balance Beam

No changes fro current rules.

IV. Floor Exercise

The Dance Series Special Requirement has changed to a Dance Passage Special Requirement.

Update on Cheerleading

Based upon the recommendation of the Washington State Cheer Coaches Association, the WIAA Executive Board approved the following additions to the NFHS Spirit Rules. As is the case with all NFHS Spirit Rules, these additions must be followed during any practice, performance or competition.

- 54.3.01 NFHS Spirit Rule 2-2-3 Addition: Members of a cheer squad involved in the stunting, including bases, fliers and spotters, shall wear their hair away from the face and off the shoulders.
- 54.3.02 NFHS Spirit Rule 2-10-2 Addition: 12' x 12' nonskid surface mats are required for performing basket tosses and other similar multi-base tosses on a hard surface. (Folding panel mats and yoga mats are not acceptable nor appropriate.)

Unless the 12' x 12' area is one continuous surface (which is possible by cutting a section of a wrestling mat), any mats that are meant to be hooked together (typically with Velcro) are appropriate provided the total area is at least 12' x 12'.

Update on Volleyball

PROPER FOOTWEAR: NFHS Volleyball Rule 4 - Section 2 - Article 6, page 16 specifies that, "appropriate playing shoes shall be worn." In the best interest of the safety of all participants, all students must be wearing "appropriate footwear" and may not be wearing inappropriate footwear or listening to electronic devices whether playing on the court, warming-up on the sidelines, shagging balls or helping players to warm-up on or near the court. This rule will not apply to coaches.

NOTE: It is reasonably safe to assume that adult coaches are capable of looking out for themselves; however, it is equally reasonable to assume that we should create a warm-up environment that is safe for all players, regardless of whether they are varsity or sub-varsity players, starters or substitutes. WIAA and WOA are opting to err on the side of caution.

EXAMPLE: If a player shagging balls is wearing flip flops, or is listening to an iPod, either the R1 or R2 shall inform the player to leave the area and return only when appropriate shoes are worn and the electronic device has been removed.

SERVICE AREA: As the post-season approaches, please be aware that teams will have ten feet behind the end line as the service area during all state championship volleyball matches in both the Yakima SunDome and the Kennewick Toyota Center. Coaches are asked to prepare athletes to serve within that area.

Heritage High School Cheerleaders do Double Time

The Heritage High School football team had a late game on Friday, September 25 at McKenzie Stadium in Vancouver, Washington. The Timberwolves' cheerleading squad arrived early to warm-up before the start of the game. It just so happens that Evergreen High School's football team was competing against Forest Grove High School (Oregon). As the Heritage cheer squad passed by the Forest Grove fan's, they heard parents saying, "You could cheer for us, we don't have cheerleaders." Forest Grove's cheerleading program was cut for the year, so they didn't have anyone leading their cheers that evening.

The Heritage cheerleaders did a quick warm-up and then stepped up and cheered for the Forest Grove Vikings for the remaining quarters of the football game. The cheerleaders used the same material they use when cheering on the Heritage teams, but substituted them with Forest Grove's colors and mascot. The Heritage cheer squad cheered for the Forest Grove Vikings just as if it was the Heritage Timberwolves on the field.

As it turns out, Forest Grove scored their only touchdown of the game after the Heritage cheerleaders started cheering for their team. And to the surprise of the players and coaches, the cheerleaders even did their push-up routine after the touchdown.

Dave Pilcher, Heritage's Head Cheer Coach, put it best when he said, "Leadership is about serving others and this was a perfect opportunity to help serve another team and community."

It seems as though Heritage High School has a lot more fans of their school now - an entire community.

Reflecting on 9/11

Schools remember and reflect on September 11, 2009

September 11, 2009 was a time of remembrance as well as recognition for high schools around the state. Many schools took the time to recognize fallen heroes as well as those still serving in our local communities.

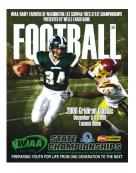

Elma High School invited Kristen Vetti-Walshe (Sangder), a 2007 Elma graduate and dance and drill team member, and her nine month old daughter Karsyn to the game to be honored. Kristen's husband was stationed at Fort Lewis and was killed in Afghanistan this past August. The Elma dance and drill team also put on special performance for Kristen and the crowd at half-time.

Central Valley High School (Spokane) honored the heroes of 9/11 during their game against University High School. The night started off with members from Rogers High School (Spokane) providing the color guard, even though Central Valley and Rogers were not playing one another. Central Valley's marching band performed the National Anthem in formation. Spokane Valley's local fire department, law enforcement and military units were invited to the game and were asked to be honorary captains and were on the field during the presentation of the colors and the playing of the National Anthem.

High school events on September 11, 2009 allowed people to come together and show recognition for those local heroes in our communities who aren't always recognized for everything they do. Athletes, coaches and fans were reminded of all the special people there are in their local fire departments, law enforcements and military units and were able to show their utmost appreciation.

High School Sports Participation Increases for 20th Consecutive Year

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Contact: Bruce Howard or John Gillis

INDIANAPOLIS, IN (September 15, 2009) - Despite cutbacks in funding in many high schools across the country, participation in high school sports has never been higher - increasing for the 20th consecutive year and establishing records for both girls and boys participants.

Based on figures from the 50 state high school athletic/activity associations, plus the District of Columbia, that are members of the National Federation of State High School Associations (NFHS), participation for the 2008-09 school year set an all-time high of 7,536,753, according to the 2008-09 High School Athletics Participation Survey conducted by the NFHS.

In addition, boys and girls participation figures reach all-time highs, with 3,114,091 girls and 4,422,662 boys participating in 2008-09. The girls figure increased by 56,825 this year, while the boys figure increased by 50,547.

Based on the survey, it was also determined that 55.2 percent of students enrolled in high schools participate in athletics - a slight increase from last year's 54.8 percent.

"Given the state of the economy, this year's survey makes a great statement about the interest in high school sports in our nation's schools," said NFHS Executive Director Robert F. Kanaby. "The record participation levels for boys and girls reflect the fact that participation in high school sports is of great value to our nation's young people. Also, the survey's results support the NFHS 2008-2011 Strategic Plan, in which the organization vowed to provide stronger leadership and support for high school athletics and fine arts activities."

In addition to its chief task of writing playing rules for high school sports, the NFHS - through its "Take Part, Get Set for Life" initiative - is striving to promote participation and gain awareness and support from state and local governments, media, corporate partners, and especially students and their parents.

Swimming and diving gained the most combined participants in 2008-09, with an increase of 29,967, followed by outdoor track and field with 19,396 and cross country with an additional 18,193 participants. Lacrosse, one of the emerging sports in recent years, had an additional 9,579 participants in 2008-09.

With an increase of 4,017 participants, 11-player football again was No. 1 for boys this year with 1,112,303 participants, followed by track and field (558,007), basketball (545,145), baseball (473,184), soccer (383,824), wrestling (267,378), cross country (231,452), tennis (157,165), golf (157,062) and swimming and diving (130,182).

Outdoor track and field supplanted basketball as the most popular girls sport with 457,732 participants. Basketball was in second place with 444,809 participants, followed by volleyball (404,243), fast pitch softball (368,921), soccer (344,534), cross country (198,199), tennis (177,593), swimming and diving (158,878), competitive spirit squads (117,793) and golf (69,223).

Texas remained the state with the most participants with a combined total of 781,000. California was second with 771,465 participants, followed by New York (380,870), Illinois (341,763), Ohio (330,056), Pennsylvania (321,324), Michigan (311,277), New Jersey (257,798), Florida (242,356) and Minnesota (242,220).

The participation survey has been compiled since 1971 by the NFHS through numbers it receives from its member associations. The complete 2008-09 Participation Survey is available on the NFHS Web site: www.nfhs.org.

Powerhouse Field Set for 2009 T-Mobile Invitational

Five Defending State Champions and Numerous Blue-Chip Recruits Highlight 2009 National High School Basketball Tournament

INDIANAPOLIS - September 20, 2009 - Start with five defending state champions, throw in a state runner-up and another state semifinalist and then add in the nation's top-ranked big man, and you have the winning recipe for the 2009 T-Mobile Invitational national high school basketball tournament, the nation's premier event featuring top boys and girls teams.

The National Federation of State High School Associations (NFHS) and T-Mobile USA, Inc. today announced the eight-team field for this year's event, which will be held December 29-30 at the Pete Hanna Center on the campus of Samford University in Birmingham, Alabama. The NFHS-member Alabama High School Athletic Association (AHSAA) will serve as the tournament's host state association. As such, two Alabama high schools were invited to participate in the tournament

The four boys teams feature a pair of defending state champions - Houston (Texas) Yates High School and Huntsville (Alabama) Butler High School. Also taking part are Covington (Washington) Kentwood High School and Winter Park (Florida) High School. Kentwood features 6-foot-10, 280-pound senior Joshua Smith, who some consider the top-rated center in the nation. Winter Park is led by junior sensation Austin Rivers, considered the top-rated shooting guard in the Class of 2011, and son of former NBA player Glenn "Doc" Rivers.

Coming off a state runner-up performance last year, the Hoover (Alabama) High School girls will serve as the host team on the girls' side of the 2009 T-Mobile Invitational bracket. They'll be joined by three defending state champions—Stockton (California) St. Mary's High School, a perennial national power featuring senior guard Chelsea Gray, a third-team USA Today All-American last year; Nashville (Tennessee) Hillsboro High School, which was 36-1 in 2008-09; and Pittsburgh (Pennsylvania) Mt. Lebanon High School, which returns 18 of 20 players from last year's 31-0 championship team

The T-Mobile Invitational is the only basketball tournament sponsored by the NFHS, and the field is composed only of schools from NFHS-member associations.

"This year's tournament should be outstanding," said Robert F. Kanaby, NFHS executive director. "Not only does this event showcase some of the best teams and individuals in the country, but it also showcases the important role that activity programs play in high school education."

"T-Mobile is proud to sponsor such a premier event," said Mike Belcher, vice president of brand communications, T-Mobile USA. "Every year, the fields seem to get better and better, and this year is no exception. Top-rated teams and outstanding student-athletes make this the best tournament in high school sports."

In addition to the two days of games, all coaches and players of the participating schools will join T-Mobile employees for a T-Mobile community service project on December 28 designed to improve the after-school facilities at a local community-based organization or public school (site to be determined). T-Mobile stresses community outreach programs connecting kids to positive people, places and programs.

The inaugural T-Mobile was held in 2006 in Seattle with the nation's number 1-ranked girls team, Suwanee (Georgia) Collins Hill High School, and the boys team, Los Angeles (California) Fairfax High School taking home the championship trophies. The scene shifted to Albuquerque and the University of New Mexico's "The Pit" for the 2007 T-Mobile Invitational. Set against that the scenic Land of Enchantment backdrop, Jersey City (New Jersey) St. Anthony High School, ranked number 1 in the nation, claimed the boys title, while Long Beach (California) Poly High School was the girls winner.

Last year's event was held on the campus of Ball State University in Muncie, Indiana with the host-state schools capturing the titles for the first time - Indianapolis (Indiana) Lawrence North High School earning the boys title, while South Bend (Indiana) Washington High School walked off with the girls trophy.

The partnership between T-Mobile and the NFHS, the national leadership organization for high school athletic and fine arts activities, strives to encourage student participation in interscholastic activities and emphasizes the importance of these programs in preparing students for life. In addition to the basketball tournament, the partnership between the NFHS and T-Mobile includes T-Mobile's sponsorship of the NFHS annual national student leadership conference, plus other initiatives and events. T-Mobile is the Official Telecommunications Partner of the NFHS.

Tickets for the 2009 T-Mobile Invitational will go on sale later this fall. For the most up-to-date information on the tournament and this year's teams, visit: www.t-mobileinvitational.com.

BOYS

Covington (Washington) Kentwood High School

Fueled by 6-foot-10, 280-pound Joshua Smith's stellar play, Covington Kentwood compiled a 17-9 record and tied for the highly competitive 4A South Puget Sound League North championship in 2008-09. Smith, who is rated the nation's No. 1 center this winter, averaged 24.1 points (with single-game highs of 43 and 40 points), 13.5 rebounds and 3.3 blocks, while shooting .690 from the floor. Possessing a powerful inside game, Smith is a tenacious rebounder who dunks and blocks shots with a vengeance. The backcourt returns intact, with 6-2 senior Tre Tyler (11.3 points per game (ppg), 3.0 rebounds per game (rpg) and 3.2 assists per game (apg), 5-11 junior Alec Wilson (5.7 ppg, 1.4 rpg and 3.4 apg) and 5-9 junior Mikell Everette (3 ppg, 3 apg). Senior Max Manthou and sophomore Isaiah Melvar will provide backcourt depth. Smith will receive frontcourt help this year from Jason Boyce (6-5), Paul Brennan (6-6) and sophomore Taylor Jones (6-6). Kentwood is expected to be one of Washington's top teams in 2009-10.

Houston (Texas) Yates High School

The Houston Yates Lions' high-powered offense lit up the scoreboards for a prodigious 96.5 points per contest en route to a 34-1 record and to the 2009 Texas University Interscholastic League Conference 4A state title. In that game, they handled Dallas Kimball, 94-78. Although they eclipsed the century scoring mark 13 times, they didn't shirk their defensive responsibilities either, as they held opponents to just 50.9 points a contest. Six-foot-two junior guard Joseph Young, who was named Conference 4A championship game MVP, set the pace with a 19.4 ppg scoring average. Classmates Brandon Peters (6-2) averaged 18.5 points, 9.2 rebounds and 6.2 steals and Darius Gardner (5-10) averaged 12.2 points, 7.2 steals and 6.8 rebounds. All three were named to the all-state tournament team. With 6-0 point guard Marshall Lange (10.5 ppg, 4.6 apg and 4.5 steals) and 6-9 center Alexander Davis (7.5 ppg and 3.4 blocks) also coming back for their senior campaigns, the entire starting unit returns intact for 2009-10, along with 11 of 15 players from last year's state championship team.

Huntsville (Alabama) Butler High School

Huntsville Butler (34-3) set a school record for victories and won its fourth AHSAA Class 5A state championship in six years (and its second consecutive) with a convincing 55-45 victory over Parker High School. In that title tilt, Butler was led by 6-3 sophomore sensation Trevor Lacey with 14 points and 6-4 junior post Ryan Ervin with 13 points and 11 rebounds. For the season, Lacey averaged 18.1 points, 6.4 rebounds, 5.1 assists and 3.2 steals, prompting veteran coach Jack Doss to call him "the best I've ever coached." Ervin averaged 15.3 points and 8.9 rebounds, while freshman point guard Justin Pride dished out 6.3 assists a game.

Winter Park (Florida) High School

Led by precocious 6-3 sophomore guard Austin Rivers' 23.6 points and 4.5 rebounds per game and a team-high 84 three-pointers, the Winter Park High School Wildcats compiled a 24-8 record and advanced to the 2009 Florida High School Athletic Association Class 6A semifinals. Rivers, who has committed to the University of Florida and is the son of former National Basketball Association standout and current Boston Celtics head coach Glenn "Doc" Rivers, is ranked as one of the nation's top juniors this year. Also returning are 6-4 forward Robert Lovaglio (13.1 ppg and 7.3 rpg), 6-7 forward Adam Jones (8.9 ppg and 7.4 rpg and Fairfield University commitment), 6-1 guard Isaac Turner (7.5 ppg and 31 three-point field goals) and 6-2 guard Swanson John David (3.9 ppg and 14 three-point field goals), who all will be seniors in 2009-10. Top junior newcomers include 6-2 guard Brett Comer (Florida Atlantic University commitment), 6-1 guard James Ferrell and 6-4 forward Alex Swanson.

GIRLS

Stockton (California) St. Mary's High School

Boasting two superstar players, Stockton St. Mary's figures to be not only one of the top girls teams in California this winter, but also in the nation. Leading the way is 5-11 senior guard Chelsea Gray, who averaged 20 points, 6 rebounds and 6 assists last year, and was named third-team All-American by USA Today. Her equally talented classmate, 6-0 swingman Afure Jemerigbe, collected 15.3 points and 8.0 rebounds per contest. With a youthful roster composed of 11 juniors and a sophomore, St. Mary's went 31-3 in 2008-09 and defeated Inglewood, 71-62, to claim the California Interscholastic Federation Division II state title. Jemerigbe and Gray poured in 23 and 14 points, respectively, in that championship game, while Alle Morena tallied 15 and Emily Gonsalves (coach Tom Gonsalves' daughter) added nine. It was the Rams' seventh CIF finals appearance and fifth state title this decade.

GIRLS CONTINUED

Nashville (Tennessee) Hillsboro High School

Coming off a glittering 36-1 record and the Tennessee Secondary School Athletic Association Class AAA state title in 2009, Nashville Hillsboro hopes to replicate that great success in 2009-10. Leading the way for the Burros will be 5-11 senior forward Lakeisha Crouch, a versatile and well-rounded player who led last year's squad in scoring, rebounding and steals (14.0 ppg, 7.2 rpg and 3.1 steals). Crouch, who was also second in blocked shots, has committed to Xavier (Ohio) University. Anchoring the middle will be rising star Isabelle Harrison, a 6-3 junior who can dunk the ball. Last year, she averaged 11.1 points, 6.3 rebounds and 1.2 blocks per game. Both Crouch and Harrison were named to 2009 all-state tournament team. Expected to run the offense is 5-6 sophomore point guard Kearra Holt, while 6-0 freshman Nicole Bowers is expected to be a strong contributor as a first-year player.

Pittsburgh (Pennsylvania) Mt. Lebanon High School

With an amazing 18 of 20 players returning from last year's squad, Pittsburgh's Mt. Lebanon brings new meaning to the term "experienced team." The 2009 edition roared to an unblemished 31-0 record as it captured the Pennsylvania Interscholastic Athletic Association Class AAAA state title with a 67-58 decision over perennial power Springfield Cardinal O'Hara. In the process, Mt. Lebanon became the first Western Pennsylvania Interscholastic Athletic League Class AAAA team to win a PIAA state title with an undefeated record. Led by state coach of the year Dori Oldaker, the Blue Devils are expected to be paced this winter by 6-0 senior forward Lauren Arbogast, who scored 14 points, and 5-11 junior guard Madison Cable, who collected 18 points and 11 rebounds, respectively, in the 2009 state title game.

Hoover (Alabama) High School

Home of the famed television series "Two-A-Days," which featured the highly successful Buccaneers football squad, the Hoover High School girls basketball team has also distinguished itself as an exceptional program. Under the direction of Coach Donnie Quinn, the Hoover girls compiled an outstanding 29-6 record as they finished runner-up in the 2009 AHSAA Class 6A state tournament. Ironically, they fell in that title tilt and absorbed half of their six setbacks to 2008 T-Mobile Invitational runner-up Madison Bob Jones. The top player is expected to be athletically gifted 6-0 small forward Tyrese Tanner, who is considered to be one of the nation's top seniors in 2009-10. Lending frontcourt depth will be 6-1 senior Kanaesha Burch, who averaged 8.9 points and 8.2 rebounds, and 6-1 sophomore center Kayla Anderson. Five-five senior point guard Meaghan Dunn ran the offense with averages of 9.5 points and 2.5 assists per game, while 5-6 senior Jordan Smith contributed 6.1 points an outing.
