The next chapter of the Sino-American trade war had global financial markets in a risk-off state with higher volatility, especially towards the beginning of the month. Equity markets were negative throughout, except for defensive and rates sensitive sectors. Rates decline globally, as investors positioned for further accommodative central bank actions. The US Dollar slightly appreciated against the Euro while it depreciated particularly against the Yen. Most commodities declined while precious metals rallied.

The portfolio ended the month in positive territory as the majority of the managers posted gains. Across styles, relative value contributed the most followed by CTA and Long/Short Equity. Event Driven was flattish while equity risk premia strategies deducted. Within Long/Short Equity, European managers were the best contributors, while Asia and the US strategies deducted. Within CTA strategies, most of the gains – across all the different trading styles - were generated within bonds while equities exposure deducted, as in the case for the equity risk premia strategy.

Style allocation as of 31 August 2019 (25 Holdings)

The allocations above take into account that a single underlying investment can have exposure to multiple styles and have been rebased to reflect underlying fund investments only.

Disclaimer

* The NAV of the latest month alone is an estimate. The final NAV will be communicated separately once determined. Please note the above NAV estimate is after estimated costs and fees. This valuation, which has been prepared in good faith by the Company's Administrator and Investment Adviser, is for information purposes only and is based on the unaudited estimated valuations supplied to the Company's Investment Adviser by investee funds, their managers, investment advisers or administrators. When finally determined, the actual month end Net Asset Value may therefore be materially different from this estimated value. Accordingly, no reliance should be placed on such estimated Net Asset Value and it should only be taken as an indicative guide.
